GERMANY STILL WITHOUT CABINET

Berlin Policemen Wounded in Riot Ordered by Moscow Which is Taking Advantage of Unstable Government.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, Nov. 28.—Four policemen and one civilian were seriously wounded here today in riots during demonstration by German Communists. It is understood the order to conduct the demonstration came from Moscow.

Seventy ringleaders were arrested including agitators who were reported to have been sent here from Russia.

Germany is still without a cabinet. Ebert made overtures to the Socialists, but he has not formally accepted up to the time his cabinet was formed.

He has accepted the offer of the Socialists to form a coalition cabinet, including members of the German People's party and the Nationalists.

Hugo Stinnes is one of the leaders of the German People's party. Communists have been taking advantage of the unrest and general anarchy arising from the political situation. Moscow is becoming more and more active in German affairs and a number of Russian agents have been active in Germany to agitate disorders.

The Soviet agents have been especially active in the Ruhr where many persons were wounded in outbreaks during the past 48 hours.

LOVE FOR BABY LEADS TO CAPTURE OF "WOLF GIRL"

Her Husband Admits She and Himself Shot Watchman.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Katherine Malm, 19, sought by police as a accomplice in the murder of Edward Lehman, today will be booked by police on a charge of murder, according to detectives who questioned her. Mother lover for her two year old daughter proved more powerful than fear of hanging, and drove her to surrender after she had eluded police seeking her since her husband's confession.

The "wolf girl" was calm when she walked into a police station and told who she was. She had come from Indianapolis in hope of seeing her baby, who has been closely watched since search for the girl started.

Her husband, lifted the weight of murder charges from her. Bookman and "Blonde" Beck when he admitted that he and his wife were the pair who shot down Edward Lehman, watchman, when they were surprised while robbing the Nelson Knitting Company's plant early on November 4.

The prospect of hanging for her husband and the Beck girl for a murder they had not committed had not troubled the "wolf girl" apparently. But "I know there wasn't a chance to see baby unless I came back," she told officers to whom she made a frank confession of her part in the Lehman killing.

"That's why I'm here," she explained. "I was at our flat the night the cops came to get me. But I slipped the kid sister a five to buy things for the baby and went down the back stairs while the cops came up the front."

An attempt to get in touch with the baby by letter led to a trap set for her in Indianapolis. She wrote a man in Chicago for news of her daughter, asking him to reply with a letter to "Miss Katy Williams."

The decoy letter sent to general delivery by police, who intercepted the first message was called for by Jimmy Connelley, a friend of the "wolf girl." She watched from the steps of the Indianapolis postoffice while Connelley was arrested.

MAKE-UP IN NEXT LEGISLATURE

Lawyers Predominate, With Farmers, Realty and Insurance Men Next—Four Doctors and an Undertaker.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Nov. 28.—With four physicians, one surgeon, two pharmacists and one undertaker as members of the 1924 assembly, all of the troubles of the next legislature ought to be properly diagnosed and prescribed for.

A list of the vocations of the members of the next assembly has just been completed by Fred W. Hammond, of Syracuse, who, in all probability will be re-elected clerk.

As usual, the lawyers are in the lead in the lower house, their profession numbering 47. The farmers are second with 23, and the real estate dealers third with 12. The insurance men are fourth with seven members.

There will be three sales managers, three merchants, three manufacturers, three automobile dealers, and three contractors in the next assembly.

In addition to the four doctors there will be four law clerks in the lower house. It always has been said that a year in the legislature is as fine an experience for a young man who intends to follow the practice of law, because there is so much law involved in various measures which come before the lawmakers.

There will be two oil producers, two civil engineers, two brokers, two builders, two auctioneers, two hardware dealers and two fruit growers in the assembly.

The fathers of two of the newly elected members, William J. Snyder, of Albany, and Victor C. Lewis, of Oswego county, served in the assembly years ago. Snyder is a Democrat, and this is the first time since his father was a member of the assembly that a son of a Democrat has won in the first district of Albany county. Lewis is a hotel proprietor and Snyder, superintendent of the Albany city night market.

This morning in police court before Judge Robert G. Groves an adjournment was taken for two weeks by consent. Attorney J. J. Cook appeared for Stopkie and Attorney Chris J. Flanagan for Mrs. Stopkie. According to the story told by Mrs. Stopkie when she obtained the warrant Tuesday she was standing on the sidewalk in front of her home when Stopkie struck her over the back with a shovel he held and also hit her with his fists. Stopkie says he is not guilty.

In the case of John Stinson of No. 50 Murray street, who was arrested on complaint of his wife, that he had assaulted her, an adjournment was taken until next Friday as Attorney Frank W. Brooks, who had been retained by the husband, was unable to appear in police court today. The bail bond was continued.

There was scarcely room in the home of the Misses Deudney on Broadway, on Tuesday afternoon for all the many friends who gathered to pay their last tribute to the memory of Miss George Deudney whose funeral occurred at three o'clock. The Rev. Charles C. Ellis, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church of which Miss Deudney was so long a devoted member, officiated and paid a well-deserved and splendid tribute to her Christian life, his recollections of the life of Miss Deudney were founded on the words, "The women that followed with Him," for Dr. Ellis counted Miss Deudney as one of those women, responsive to need; staunch as a friend; wide in sympathy. He further said that it would be impossible to think of the history of the Rondout Presbyterian Church without constant reference to her and her labors therein, for she worked earnestly and gladly and her memory is one that will live long in the hearts of all who knew her. Masses of beautiful flowers were the tributes of friendship that covered the casket and all but filled the room in which it stood. ## ANNA SOBIN STAR WITNESS

Nurse of Rothenberg Boy Testifies—Authorities Say One of Women in Case is Having Witnesses Approached.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Catskill, Nov. 28.—Anna Sobin, 16 year old nurse girl who was the last person to see 7 year old Howard Rothenberg alive before his strangled body was found at Windham last August, went before the grand jury here today.

The girl, regarded by the district attorney's office as the "star witness," was employed by Mrs. Catherine Rothenberg of Newark, N. J., to take care of her son. In some quarters efforts have been made to implicate the girl but Judge George Coffin declares she is innocent.

"This she knows a great deal about the case and her testimony will be valuable in clearing up the mystery," Coffin said.

The grand jury investigation, it was indicated, probably will extend through next week. Among the witnesses are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chockers of Brooklyn and Mrs. Henri Barthelemy of White Plains, N. Y., summer guests at Windham when the boy was slain.

Mrs. Esther Litt of Brooklyn, sister of Mrs. Rothenberg who went before the grand jury Monday, is remaining here with her attorneys until the case is closed.

Authorities charged that agents of one of the women flouting in the case were "tampering with witnesses." As a result witnesses coming to the court house today were guarded by deputy sheriffs and constables.

Coffin has asked newspapermen to withhold names of witnesses expected to testify to prevent any possibility of their being approached by the agents of the woman he mentioned.

It was considered likely that Steigerwald would formally abandon his efforts to form a new government this evening. In this event President Ebert probably will again charge Herr Stresemann with the task of constituting a new government, giving him authority to dissolve the Reichstag.

Shell Shocked Victim of World War Charged With Helping Sell to Car on Which He Had Been Paying Installments, but Had Failed to Keep Payments Up.

Irvine Cole of Pine Grove avenue, a shell-shocked veteran of the World War, was arrested this morning by Sergeant Hanley on a warrant obtained by Chief Chambers of the Stuyvesant Garage charging Cole with the theft of a Maxwell touring car on November 3, which was valued at $500.

Cole, who is married, was in court with his wife, and was represented by Attorney Thomas Coughlin, who stated that his client desired an examination, and asked that it be held Friday morning. Cole who is very nervous could not stand still when he was examined, and owing to the fact that he was unable to obtain bail and due to his physical condition Judge Robert C. Groves probed him in custody of his attorney so that Cole would not have to spend Thanksgiving Day in the county jail.

Although the story was not brought out today when Cole was arraigned it is said that he had worked for the garage some time ago and had bought the Maxwell car on which he was making payments. He had paid some installments, and then stopped, and the car was taken from him.

On November 3, the car, which was in the storage warehouse of the garage, was found missing. Cole is accused of taking it from the warehouse.

GEO. WASHINGTON'S PROCLAMATION

When we review the calamities that afflict so many other nations,
the present condition of the United States affords much matter of consolation and satisfaction. Our expansion hitherto from foreign war, an increasing prospect of the continuance of that exemption, the great degree of internal tranquility we have enjoyed, the recent confirmation of that tranquility by the suppression of an insurrection, which so wantonly threatened it, the happy
course of our public affairs in general, the unexampled prosperity of all classes of our citizens, are circumstances which peculiarly mark our situation with indications of the Divine beneficence toward us. In such a state of things it is in an especial manner our duty as a people, with devout reverence and affectionate gratitude, to acknowledge our many and great obligations to Almighty God, and to implore Him to continue and confirm the blessings
we experienced.

Deeply penetrated with the sentiment, I, George Washington, President of the United States, do recommend to all religious societies, and denominations, and to all persons, whomsoever, within the United States, to set apart and observe Thursday the 19th day of February
next, as a day of public thanksgiving and prayer, and on that day to meet together and render sincere and heartily thanks to the great Ruler of nations for the manifold and signal mercies which distinguish our lot as a nation; particularly for the pos-sion of constitutions of government which unite, and by their union establish liberty with order; for the preservation of our peace, foreign and domestic; for the reasonable control which has been given to a spirit of disorder in the suppression of the late insurrection, and generally for the prosperous condition of our affairs, public or private, and at the same time humbly and fervently bestowing the kind Author of these blessings graciously to prolong them to us; to imprint on our hearts a deep and solemn sense of our obligations to Him for them; to teach us rightly to estimate their immense value; to preserve us from the arrogance of prosperity and from hazarding the advantages we enjoy by delusive pursuits to dispose us to merit the continuance of His favors by not abus-ing them, by our gratitude for them, and by a corresponding conduct as citizens and as men to render this country more and more a safe and propitious asylum for the unfortunate of other countries; to extend among us true and useful knowledge; to diffuse and establish habits of sobriety, morality and piety, and finally to impart all the blessings we possess or ask for ourselves to the whole family of mankind.

In testimony whereof I have caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed to these presents, and signed the same with my hand, done at the city of Philadelphia the first day of January, 1777.
GEORGE WASHINGTON.

EUREKA.

Eureka, Nov. 27.—Elwin Moore
has his hen house completed. William Ryan helped him build it.

We are sorry to note Mrs. James Smith is sick.

Frate Smith and William Ryan both have a large quantity of wood for the winter.

One of our popular young men
made a trip to town Wednesday.
While sitting on the bridge near Frate Smith's house, he lost his balance and landed in the creek below. He was not hurt but received a very cold ducking.

Pierre Moore has some boarders
during hunting season.

Mrs. Will Short and two sons returned to their home in Olvera
Saturday after spending a week
with relatives this side of the mountain.

Lea Dayton has his house completed and is a nice improvement to the village.

THE VLY.

The Vly. Nov. 28.—Mrs. Isaiah Kron and son George, and son Calton, spent Sunday at her mother's.
Mrs. I. Palen, at Stone Ridge.

Mrs. Moses H. Van Demark has returned home from Poughkeepsie, where she was called on account of her mother's death. Mrs. Anna H.
Russell, widow of the late Bernard Scott of Rosendale, interment was at Rosendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Boynton of Greenwich, Conn., and Clyde C. Palen spent Saturday and Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Palen and James Palen.

The Rev. Mr. Robbins, pastor of The Vly Church, is ill at this writing.
All wish for his speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wurster of Jersey City, are expected as guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wurster, over Thanksgiving.

Pump Peat From Bogs.

In Finland hydraulic mining is being successfully used to obtain peat from bogs, the plastic mass resulting being pumped to yards, where it is dried.

At four every morn he'd be at her door
At four at her door was he,
Yet there was no scandal, gossip or talk,
For he was the milkman, you see.

There isn't much hope for a man if the papers can't say anything nice about him except that he is socially prominent.

A bachelor and his buttons are soon parted.

The well-known battery, "Low Neck and Short Sleeves" is no longer a winning combination. It's a sleeveless age.

It is no longer necessary to mow the weeds in the vacant lots. They are all occupied by filling stations.

Ford has no supporters among those whose fine cars have been passed on a hill by jitneys.

Nobody would have to offer a $100,000 prize for an international peace plan if the world would only substitute the Golden Rule for the rule of gold.

Old I Don't Care saw in some magazine the plans for adding a sleeping porch to a house, for open-air sleeping. He has no intention of building such a thing, but the article gave him
just one more good reason for not stopping the cracks and knotholes on the north-side of the cowbarn. His cows will get plenty of fresh air, night and day, and will shiver as usual this winter.

A cat is something no girl thinks
she is.

Helpful Hint.

When eating sliced fresh peaches dilute a measure with milk so that any stray live thing will float on top.

Guest (at country hotel) —
"Where's that chicken I ordered an hour ago?"

Waitress—"It'll be here soon, sir.
The cook hasn't killed it yet, but she's gotten in a couple of nasty blows."

When a man gets a letter from his wife during his absence from home, he simply reads the postscript and sends her a check.

When a man starts out to make a fool of himself, he always finds a pelony of tools handy.

Kerfuffle!

A fat old gent is Uncle Gene.
And from his neck down he is calloused.

His neighbor owns a tin machine,
And uncle goes along as ballast.

Once in a while you get to think that the man you hate is about as popular as a corkscrew at a prohibition rally.

Willie—"Paw, what's a nervous breakdown?" Paw—"The stalling of your motor
on your return from Canada."

Spaking about heredity, stockings run in almost every family.

Few people really believe in prayer
while they are getting along nicely.

You may be as good as anybody else, but if that's all you have to brag about, you're a lame duck.

Civilization seems to be a matter of multiplying the number of things
a young girl ought to know.

Character Shown by the Mouth.

Most people think that the eyes show character more than any other feature, but really this is not the case; the mouth is the surest thing to go by, and you can tell at once by noticing the shape of a mouth what the owner's main trait is.

A finely shaped, nicely curved mouth shows a nice and noble nature, fond of everything beautiful, with sweetness of temper and goodness of mind. A coarse thick mouth shows vulgarity, grossness and a low-minded person. Thin lips tightly pressed show a stern, critical and colder severe character, hard on the faults of others, with a dislike of luxury, or too much comfort. The nature will be practical, decided, and very firm.

Odd Experience.

This happened in England. We had moved into a new neighborhood. I took a walk. I hurried back because it began to fog. I became scared when the fog thickened and sat down on a doorstep and cried. The woman at the house took me in and I explained my predicament. I didn't know where I lived, so she took me to the police station when the fog lifted. My mother was already there and we were both overjoyed. When we all reached home we learned that it was in the next house to us I had been all the time—Exchange.

Chairs Hold Close Relation to Life.

This place of furniture is more closely associated with our lives than the chair? It underdates the ancient seat. Probably it had its beginning in the earliest stages of time, so distant that the historian cannot trace it.

It is kings have sat and ruled, popes and cardinals have used it, dynasties, monarchies, republics have risen and fallen but through them all has survived the chair. And today, in the better furnished homes, the chair holds its place of honor as it has done throughout the world for centuries.

Rolled Brown Velvet Ribbon Used for Hat

This chic little hat is of rolled brown velvet ribbon with a fantasy of red and blue wooden beads.

Window Shades Should Be Given Consideration

Lace on shades is not usually desirable. There are very few houses indeed which, from the exterior view, are not positively marred by the use of lace on shades. It makes a great incongruity that a trained eye finds very disagreeable. This is particularly true of lace edgings; it is also true, although in a lesser degree, of lace insertion. Once in a life's journey we see a house that has all the appearance of "lavender and old lace." Here lace on shades might be acceptable.

Holland striped cloth is one of the newest introductions among materials used for shades. They are very pleasing in appearance and are also prepared in such a manner as to withstand the effects of weathering. They are, therefore, safe to use at windows that are left open with the shade pulled down. Except in white houses, white shades are usually an eyesore from the outside.

On neither shades nor drapes should large figures be used unless the size of the room warrants it. Another general rule to keep in mind when dressing windows is that the windows should be so arranged that they may take on a double character. They are relatively bright during the day; at night they should be in accord with the feeling that the outside world has gone to sleep. They should give one the feeling of protection, of hominess. These effects may be most easily attained by the use of double curtain rods. On the inside one is hung the materials that are light in weight and color; on the outside—the one next to the room—the heavier and darker colored drapes that may be drawn completely across the window.

Curtains will completely spoil beautiful proportions of a window if they are much longer than the window frame. If this is allowed all sense of proportion is immediately lost. The colors of the heavy drapes should accord perfectly with the other fittings of the room. They should not be spots, they should be a well-blended part of the room.

Use Warm Water and Ammonia for Windows

Windows are best cleaned with warm water containing ammonia. But if the glass has become very dirty a paste made of whiting and water, rubbed on and allowed to dry before being removed with a soft cloth, will be found effective. Windows should never be cleaned when the sun shines upon them, or they will dry streaky. A cloth fixed upon a stick is sometimes useful when cleaning windows. There are several preparations made to prevent the steaming of windows, but few of them are successful. The real remedy is better ventilation.

Window glass is either sheet or plate, the latter being the more expensive. Plate glass is much thicker than sheet glass, and consequently heavier. Heavy windows are somewhat troublesome, but the great advantage of plate glass is, apart from the better appearance, that it deadens sound from outside. A room fitted with plate glass windows is always much quieter than one in which the windows are of sheet glass.

Wooden Spoon Mirror for Dressing Table

The foundation for a dressing table set is made of a large wooden spoon, having a long handle. This spoon is placed on the back of a rectangular mirror and held in place with glue, then carefully covered with interlaced, shaded ribbon, while the spoon handle is carefully wrapped with the same ribbon which is tied in an ornamental bow and glued near the handle. A number of ribbon roses decorate the mirror in conspicuous places. A tube of the best liquid glue should be used in making these articles so there will be no cause to fear discoloration of the fabrics. The glue is applied sparingly and allowed to set before attaching the materials.

Again in Style.

Mother of pearl is a lovely, old-fashioned thing coming back again into style. It is met most frequently today in the form of spangles, with which various costumes are decorated. It makes beautiful bracelets also.

Discards Quill Pen.

The English treasury has decided to dispense with quill pens at Southwark county court. For nearly 150 years the old-fashioned quill pen has been in use at this court, and in the hands of barristers it has often proved an effective weapon of attack when cross-examining reluctant witnesses.

OVERLAND DEALERS PUSHING THE CHAMPION

National Champion demonstration week is being observed this week all over the country by Overland dealers. The advantage of the new Overland Champion are being shown. In the show windows of the George J. Schryver Motor Car Company on North Front street local agents is one of the new champions which is attracting a great deal of attention.

Mr. Schryver is showing one of the many advantages of the car, that of using it as sleeping quarters while on tour.

The interior of the car can be converted by the removal of the seats so as to provide sleeping quarters for two full grown persons. To demonstrate this advantage Mr. Schryver has placed two wax figures in the car.

At night the interior of the car is illuminated with a light which shows the two sleeping "ladies" in a most parents, Mr. and Mrs. Romaine lifelike manner.

Beside being used as sleeping quarters the car has many other features which makes it especially adapted as a shopping car or as a general utility car about the farm.

The rear seats can be removed providing fifty cubic feet of clear carrying space. The front seat is adjustable to several different positions to provide ample "leg" room for tall drivers and the rear seat is also adjustable. In converting the car only a few minutes are required and in making up a bed the seat cushions and backs are used to provide a comfortable mattress.

WEST SAUGERTIES.

West Saugerties, Nov. 28.—Mrs. J. Rogers and Mrs. P. Cordes took a day off last week and spent it in Kingston.

Elden Myer returned home from New York city where he spent ten days seeing the sights and enjoying himself.

Miss Rose Doner of New York city is a guest at the home of John Carn. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hommel and son Norman of Saugerties were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Carn.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snyder of Saugerties spent Sunday with her,

the two sleeping "ladies" in a most parents, Mr. and Mrs. Romaine

lifelike manner.

POLISH GENERAL'S WAR ADVENTURES

Joseph Haller Led Armies on Both Sides.

TELLS WHY HE QUIT AUSTRIA

Gen. Joseph Haller, military chief of the Polish army, who is now visiting the United States, told his own story of how he commanded armies on both sides in the World war.

It was a vivid recital of almost unbelievable adventure and achievement against overwhelming odds, a story that at the time was submerged by the greater drama of the war as a whole.

General Haller, at the beginning of the World war, was an officer in the Austro-Hungarian army, holding an important command on the Bessarabian front. Many of the men under him were Poles. It was his hope that out of the war a free Poland might arise—a hope that was encouraged by false promises from the Germans and Austrians.

German Duplicity Revealed.

To attain their coveted free land, General Haller and his men fought bravely against the Russians, but when the czar was overthrown and Russia became a republic, the general said he could see no reason for further war against the Slavs.

Shortly afterward the Kerensky government in Russia was overthrown by the Bolsheviks and the war on the east front collapsed. The treaty of Brest-Litovsk was signed and the Poles discovered that the promises of the Germans and Austrians were false and that Poland had been partitioned again, Russia still retaining a slice.

"Declared War" on Germans.

It was then General Haller made his great decision. Although he had a force of only three thousand men, he declared war on Austria and Germany. He "camouflaged" his plan, to use his own expression, and issued an order for a night maneuver. The Austrian staff was aware of the order, however, and when General Haller started toward the Russian border, fighting broke out between his own troops and those at whose side they so recently had fought.

He won through finally, but lost his artillery and supply trains. He was out on a great desert virtually, a land that had been devastated by the movements of vast armies or was composed largely of swamps. But he went ahead. Reaching a town on the Dnieper river, he found himself surrounded by a force of fourteen thousand Germans. A battle followed and at the conclusion, which General Haller himself ordered, the Germans offered full honors of war if he would surrender. He refused and added a new wrinkle to military strategy—he dispersed his army.

"We could have gone on fighting," he said, "but there would only have been a few more dead Polish heroes and no Polish army."

He issued a proclamation to his men, telling them to scatter in small groups and assemble later, when they heard from him.

Called on Poles to Fight.

General Haller effected his own escape and reached Moscow. Then he issued a proclamation that made him famous. It was addressed to "Polish soldiers, wherever they may be found" and called upon them to join him in a war to free Poland.

The immediate response was from Poles within Russia—who had fought either with the Russian or Austrian armies, the latter category having been made prisoners of war. With about four thousand men, General Haller proceeded to Murmansk in the extreme north of Russia, where there was a small allied expedition. When he reached there, General Haller went to General Poore, commanding the British force, and offered his small army to aid the allies.

"But whom do you represent?" the British general asked.

"The independent republic of Poland," was the reply, and it was the first time in nearly six hundred years that a free Poland laid claim to recognition.

"I Am the Government."

"But where is your government?" was the next question.

"I am the government," General Haller replied.

"Where is your flag?"

"Here." And, reaching into his tunic, General Haller produced a small flag that had been made by some women in one of the villages in which he had stopped for a time.

The result was the signing of an agreement that gave Poland real hope for freedom and opportunity to aid in fighting for it. General Haller went to France, where he took command of twenty-five thousand Poles from America, who had volunteered when the call went forth, and formed two divisions, which received high praise from the allied commanders.

The armistice came too soon for him, General Haller said, because he desired to carry the war from home to Germany and dictate terms from Berlin—and the Polish army marched across Germany to put into being that for which they had struggled for more than four years and to meet and hurl back the tide of bolshevism which threatened to engulf Europe in the summer of 1920.

Impressed by Visit.

General Haller has been greatly impressed by his visit to America. He praised the American military system, based on a small regular army, but with an extensive reserve organization. He also spoke of the great technical resources of the United States, which insured adequate facilities to meet war emergencies.

The general took advantage of the opportunity to deny charges that Poland was a "militarist" nation. He pointed out that his country lacked natural defensive frontiers to act as barriers against invasion and situated as it is between Germany and Russia, must be ready to meet enemies on two sides. Hence it is necessary for Poland to maintain an army considerably larger than usually required in a country of its size, he said.

It was explained that General Haller is not commander in chief of the Polish armies, but occupies a position similar to General Pershing's in this country.

Many Pieces of Sculpture Unearthed
—Traces of Palace.

Excavations in Rome's ancient Main street, Corso Umberto, have brought to light many pieces of ancient Greek and Roman sculpture. Four triumphal arches stood in the Corso in ancient times and many fragments unearthed in the course of the improvements that are being made are believed to be parts of these arches.

In the Via Plebiscito are traces of a great imperial palace and the walls of an ancient temple. At the Piazza Sciarra, a Corinthian column was found and a fragment from the temple of Neptune. In the Via Caravita two ancient columns were unearthed and also fragments of a medieval church.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CIRCUS TALK

"There is going to be a week set aside of every year," said one of the horses in the circus, "when people will go about with their pockets full of lumps of sugar and horses will all be given a special treat."

"It will be called something like being-kind-to-animal week. And it will show people how nice it is to be kind to animals and how much better they will feel for being kind."

"Then it is hoped people will continue being kind all the time, of course. But this week will show people the nice things there are to be done."

"And anyone seeing people unkind or cruel to animals will stop them and make them feel ashamed of themselves for bullying and ill-treating and being thoughtless and unfair."

"It sounds like a wonderful idea," said another circus horse. And the other circus horses said, "Neigh, neigh," which was their way of saying, "Yes, yes!"

"It began a year ago, I believe," said the first circus horse, "and this year will be the second year of it."

"Neigh, neigh, good, good," said the other circus horses.

"Some can't tell me from Neighbor Rhinoceros," said the circus Hippopotamus. "People come and stand before me and they say, 'Is that a rhinoceros or is that a hippopotamus? It's one of those big animals, anyway.' Now, did you ever hear of anything so unintelligent?"

"Never," said the circus rhinoceros. "Of course, it is true we're big animals, but such ignorance is absurd. It is as though we saw a boy and a girl coming along and we said, 'Which is the boy and which is the girl? One or the other is the boy and the other one is the girl.'"

"Just as absurd," said the circus hippopotamus.

"They say that the people in charge of us answer questions about us all the time and that the ignorance shown toward us is very great," the hippopotamus continued. "And it is also said by those in charge of us that grownups know far less than children, yet they're supposed to be bigger and wiser."

"It Is True We're Big."

"Of course grownups may know more about other things; but, alas! they don't know as much as they should about the hippopotamus and the rhinoceros."

"People don't know the difference between us half the time," said the leopard and the tiger together.

"Sometimes, all the time," said the leopard.

"Sometimes, three-quarters of the time," said the tiger.

"It is said," the leopard continued, "that that is one of the reasons the hyena laughs so much. Yes, a wise man known as Dexter Fellowes, who has much to do with the circus, said that was the reason. And I'm sure he must be right. For Dexter Fellowes is very wise, very wise, indeed."

"So they all say," the tiger remarked. "I must say I have never talked to him long enough to tell for myself, but I'm sure every one must be right."

"So many couldn't be wrong, especially when it is about one of their own kind."

"People know more about people than they do about animals. Well, I would like it if Dexter Fellowes would come and have a chat with me some time. But I don't believe he will. He said to me once, 'Tiger, you're a handsome fellow, but I wouldn't choose you for my pal.'"

"So I think he prefers to keep a respectful distance from me. But certainly everyone thinks the 'world and all,' as they say, of him. And I'll tell you one thing, leopard."

"Yes," said the leopard, "pray tell it to me."

"And that is," the tiger went on, "that he most certainly has the most marvelous and the most patient disposition I've ever seen in all my circus life. And he can tell most beautiful stories of the circus. Oh, they sound so grand and so magnificent, and he can tell them so easily. He's just a born story-teller, and he tells the truth too. Oh, yes, yes, he tells the truth!"

Dishes Were Too Small.
Helen was at her first party. When refreshments were served she refused a second helping of ice cream with a polite "No, thanks," although she looked wistful.

"Do have some more, dear," the hostess urged.

"Mother told me to say 'No, thank you,'" the little girl explained naively. "But I don't believe she knew how small the dishes were going to be."—Everybody's Magazine.

SEASONABLE FOODS

As oysters are now at their best, this is the time to serve them occasionally. An oyster stew is so commonly made that it needs little recommendation, but a good oyster stew is not the result of careless preparation.

Oysters should be carefully looked over to remove all shells; the liquor should be reserved after straining, to add to the stew, and enough oysters should be cooked to serve well the number who dine. Scald the milk, using a quart of milk to a pint of oysters. Drop the oysters into the oyster liquor, increased by water to cover the oysters and cook them until their edges curl. Overcooking toughens them, and undercooked oysters are anything but palatable.

After cooking the oysters remove them to the tureen, add enough butter to season well—the more butter, the better the stew—add salt and pepper to taste, blend the oyster liquor with the hot milk and pour boiling hot into the tureen. Serve at once with crisp oyster crackers.

Grilled Oysters.—Put a large piece of butter into a hot pan and when it smokes drop in the oysters a few at a time. When the oysters are browned remove to a hot dish and pour over them a sauce made of the oyster liquor and the melted butter, thickened and cooked with flour. Season with Worcestershire sauce, salt, cayenne and serve on toast. Garnish with parsley.

Fried Oysters.—Drain and wipe the oysters dry, roll in cracker crumbs seasoned with salt and pepper dip in egg which has been beaten up with one tablespoonful of milk, and then roll in cracker. Fry quickly in hot fat, drain on paper as fast as they are taken up. Serve hot, garnished with parsley and lemon slices.

Browned Cheese Crackers.—Split milk crackers and spread with butter, sprinkle with grated cheese and cayenne. Put into a dripping pan and bake until delicately browned.

Ford Trucks Are Bought On Performance Records

If you were to ask a hundred—or a thousand—Ford truck owners why they use Ford trucks in preference to all others, they would likely say, "Because the Ford stands up."

They know that under the endless grind of daily service the Ford stays on the job month in and month out, with very little mechanical care, and with practically no expense for repairs or replacements. They buy to get performance.

A few might add that the Ford is the lowest priced truck on the market. But they would emphasize the work this truck does, not its initial cost, in accounting for the fact that there are more Ford Trucks in use today than all other makes combined.

Cantilever Shoe

An Aid to Foot Beauty

TRUE foot beauty does not always lie in pretty shoes that cramp the foot and restrict the step. Foot beauty at its best, is the foot shod in a graceful, refined shoe which permits a graceful natural carriage.

Women the country over are realizing the advantage of comfort and flexibility in shoes as an aid to beauty and gracefulness. Cantilever Shoes are chosen. The flexible arch does not restrict the normal functioning of the foot.

Cantilevers promote health; permit freedom and good circulation. They encourage walking which is good for everybody.

Faster than Fins!

by the Veteran Motorist

LAST winter, when I was out West, a friend of mine took me up to the Illinois Athletic Club one evening, so that I might see Johnny Weissmuller put even a brook trout to shame for speed and getting through the water. You know I had never thought much of this swimming game! Like a great many other old fellows, who just used to paddle about the old swimming hole, I never thought that swimming was the sport it really is — something which takes all the speed and stamina a man can deliver.

Talk about form! Johnny Weissmuller must time every movement of his body, every stroke and kick, so that the maximum of power and speed can be delivered every second of the race. 29 3/4 seconds for 60 yards is some swimming.

Socony Gasoline won't make your car a Johnny Weissmuller, but Socony will put any car or truck "in the swim" for efficiency in driving and hauling. It will give flash for a quick start, speed for the long pull, power to come out on top in any kind of a tough finish. Fill up with Socony Gasoline and Socony Motor Oil, and notice how the old boat "comes through".

POSSIBILITIES IN TOMORROW'S GAMES

Cornell, Barring Confidence Bred of 23 Straight Wins, Should Beat Pennsylvania—West Va. and Notre Dame Due to Win.
(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Nov. 28.—Possibility of dirty work at the cross roads still hovers over the plot as the gridiron ensemble masses at mid-stage for the grand finale tomorrow. Cornell hasn't been beaten in three years but the Ithacans may have their Pennsylvania
just as Caesar had his Brutus.
Likewise must West Virginia, Marquette, Texas, Baylor and other leading characters have a care less the sneering villain shoot his cuffs point-blank into their ranks.

Cornell, of which immoderate claims have been made for recognition as national champion, figures to beat Pennsylvania by two touchdowns with its slant tackle plays and general power, clustered around the activities of Pfann. Yet the Dobie outfit would do well to wait until nightfall tomorrow before having anything further to say for publication. Pennsylvania has summoned its best team since 1919 and is notorious for its inclination to play a hard game all the way.

However, Cornell quite possibly is represented by its strongest eleven of all time. It should win easily and probably will.
West Virginia, another of the Eastern elite, has no push-over in Washington and Jefferson. The latter had a great early season team but injuries hampered its subsequent development. The game will be as close as gymnast's tight.

Baylor and Texas, dual leaders of Southern football, also step out for the last time. The former takes on Southern Methodist and should win
in a romp but Texas may have to understand everything in the Arsenal to beat Texas A and M. Other leading games in the south involve Georgia Tech and Alabama Poly, Kentucky
and Tennessee, Atlanta and Florida, Tulane and Washington, W. and L. and North Carolina and Virginia Poly
and Virginia Military.

Marquette, shouting for recognition in the middle-west, has picked up a live one in Vermont. The Green Mountain boys are not quite so hardy and elusive as they were last year but Tom Ready always gets the ultimate out of his teams. It is probable that Red Dunn and his supporting cast will win with something to spare. Jeferson and Gonzaga seems to be a trot and stride below the speed they knew last year with the winner in some doubt.
The same may be said of the Pitt-
Penn State affair at Pittsburgh, although the writer is disposed to string along with State. He also likes Dartmouth over Columbia which is to make a final and supreme effort to vindicate the Houghton system in short season.

The Missouri Valley conference is profile of action with Nebraska meeting the Kansas Aggies and Missouri facing Kansas. The Huskers probably will win, going away, but the Missouri-Kansas affair is a stand off at this distance. Meantime, Notre Dame figures to have a pleasant afternoon with St. Louis.

History of Tarpelin Rock.
Tarpelin rock is a precipice on the south side of the Capitoline hill at Rome, from which state criminals sentenced to death were thrown headlong.
It received its name from Tarpelin, a
vestal virgin and daughter of Spurius Tarpelin, governor of the citadel, who
agreed to open the gates to the Sabines
—then at war with the Romans—on condition of receiving from them what they wore on their arms (meaning their bracelets). She was rewarded for her treachery by being crushed to death by
the weight of the shields cast upon her
by the soldiers, who shouted as they
hastened on: "These are the ornaments
we wear on our arms." According to legend, Tarpelin ever sits in the heart
of the rock, adorned with gold and jewels and bound by a spell.

Yankee Sailors Led World.
A foremost hand on a Yankee East
Indianman was the best paid, best fed,
and most competent sailor in the
world, regarded by consters, fishermen,
whalers and man-of-war-men as the top dog of his profession, according to
the "Maritime History of Massachusetts." A Yankee shipmaster, in 1840,
was the world's standard in ability
and in conduct. The Massachusetts
merchant marine was commanded for

FINAL GRID GAME WITH OAKWOOD

K. H. S. Eleven Will Meet Strong
Football Squad Thanksgiving
Morning at Fair Grounds—High School Doings.

Thanksgiving morning, the local high school's football team closes its season by playing Oakwood Prep of Poughkeepsie. The game will be played at the Fair Grounds at 10:30 in the morning. The team is in good shape for the game and is confident of winning. Not much is known of Oakwood's football prowess, but last year they held Poughkeepsie High to a scoreless tie and it is said that the team is better this year.
The annual football banquet given by the Hi-Y at the "Y" will be held on December 5.
Basketball practice has started and will be going full blast next week. Mr. Brown has consented to coach the team. He will be assisted by Mr. Buley and H. Anderson. All of last year's Varsity men except Anderson are all to play and a record breaking team is hoped for.
The seniors open the social year
at the school with their dance on Friday night, November 30. The committee has worked hard and a good time is expected. Refreshments will be served. The Imperial Orchestra will furnish the music for the dance.

The annual Freshmen party which is given by the Prisma will be held in the near future.
The Prisma Debating Club held its second debate last Friday. The question debated was, "Resolved that moving pictures on the whole are detrimental to the American people." The affirmative was underlined by Anna Dumey, leader, Elsie Tetley and Henrietta Bruck. The negative was upheld by Bessie Fel-enberg, leader, Mary Dott, and Mary Gallagher. The debate was very spirited and was more interesting than many of the boys' trial debates.

The negative got the decision of the judges. These debates have shown decided talent among the Prisma girls and it is possible that they may be chosen for the debating team which will represent K. H. S.
The Varsity debating teams will be chosen by the debating council next month. An invitation to attend the conference of the Rutgers Inter-scholastic Debating Organization has been received by the Webster-Hayne Debating Club and delegates will be elected to attend.

The Latin Club held a regular meeting Tuesday night. The question, "Resolved, that third year stride below the speed they knew last
year with the winner in some doubt.
The same may be said of the Pitt-

though the writer is disposed to
string along with State. He also likes

make a final and supreme effort to

The members of the Faculty are still hard at work rehearsing their plays for December 7th and by appearances will give a good performance.

History of Tarpelin Rock.
Tarpelin rock is a precipice on the south side of the Capitoline hill at Rome, from which state criminals sentenced to death were thrown headlong.
It received its name from Tarpelin, a
vestal virgin and daughter of Spurius Tarpelin, governor of the citadel, who
agreed to open the gates to the Sabines
—then at war with the Romans—on
condition of receiving from them what
they wore on their arms (meaning their bracelets). She was rewarded for her
treachery by being crushed to death by
the weight of the shields cast upon her
by the soldiers, who shouted as they
hastened on: "These are the ornaments
we wear on our arms." According to legend, Tarpelin ever sits in the heart
of the rock, adorned with gold and jew-
els and bound by a spell.

Yankee Sailors Led World.
A foremost hand on a Yankee East
Indianman was the best paid, best fed,
and most competent sailor in the
world, regarded by consters, fishermen,
whalers and man-of-war-men as the
top dog of his profession, according to
the "Maritime History of Massachusetts." A Yankee shipmaster, in 1840,
was the world's standard in ability
and in conduct. The Massachusetts
merchant marine was commanded for the most part by men of high character and education; navigators who could work lunars as well as Bowditch

Reliance PANCAKE FLOUR

"When the frost is on the pumpkin;
And the fodder's in the shock."

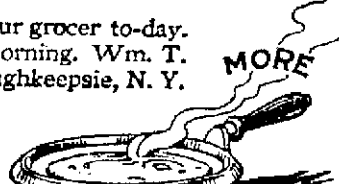

That's the time to serve Reliance Pancakes for breakfast. These crisp Fall mornings seem to tantalize appetite in a way that can only be appeased with a platter of Reliance Pancakes.

A breakfast of these good, old-fashioned cakes flanked by a pot of coffee is much more satisfying to the average mortal than a ten-course affair in a fashionable restaurant.

Everybody loves 'em, especially men and boys. And mother likes them too because it's such an easy matter to fry them. No fuss, no muss—just stir up a batter and put on the griddle.

Order a package of your grocer to-day. Serve them tomorrow morning. Wm. T. Reynolds & Co., Inc., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

THANKSGIVING OF THE PILGRIMS

No Particular Religious Ceremony Attended It—Indian Hunters Furnished Five Deer for Feast.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 28.—Possibly because of the Longfellow influence, which descended upon us in a highly impressionable time of life, the first thoughts conjured up in our minds at the mention of Thanksgiving nowadays have to do with Miles Standish, Priscilla, John Alden and the rest, whereupon we conclude that the institution was born then and there. As a matter of fact "Thanksgiving" goes back many, many years before the Pilgrim fathers landed at Plymouth.

When the ceremony was first celebrated in this country it was a direct perpetuation of the English "harvest home," and in its chief characteristics and significance differed very little from that observance. The latter in turn is derived from a world-wide cycle of "in-gathering" feasts, to which the Bible refers in several places. For example, Judges, ix, 27, presents the following:

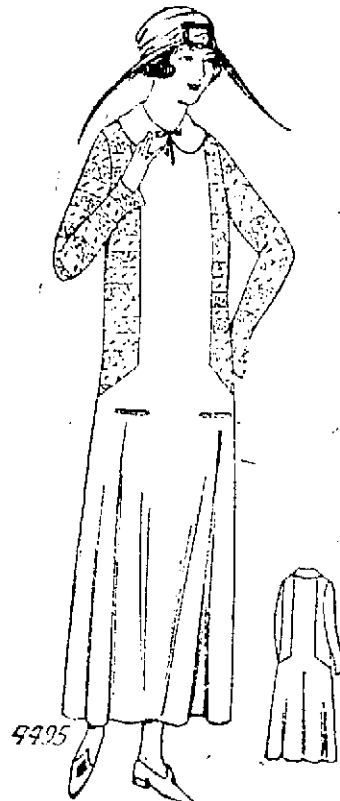

"And they went out into the fields and gathered their vineyards, and trode the grapes, and made merry and went into the House of their God and did eat and drink."

So far as the records show, the Pilgrims conducted no special religious services in conjunction with their first Thanksgiving. The regular morning devotions were discharged, and grace was said before meat. It appears that they had been exceedingly short of rations just prior to the Thanksgiving feast. By dint of hard labor, performed by the very few of their number who had been able to resist the ravages of disease, and by conserving for planting corn that they actually needed for food, they were blessed with an ample harvest, and straightway invited the Indians to partake of their feast.

The great Chief Massasoit and about 90 of his men responded to the invitation. It appears, however, that the Pilgrim larder was materially augmented by the Indians, who sent out a number of their most expert hunters, who brought back five deer.

The ensuing feast was not for a day, but for a week. Nor did this mean that their sufferings were over. Followed another period of privation, during which the strictest conservation was necessary in order that there might be plenty of seed to plant the fields the following season.

AGRICULTURE

Green manure crops are those grown for plowing under in the green state to enrich the soil.

Helping the boy to build his own sled is combining pleasure with profit for both yourself and the boy.

The most that a farmer gets out of a poorly arranged barn is plenty of exercise at a time when it's too costly.

Uncle Ab says that it is better to know how to do one thing when it's needed than a lot of things when they're not.

In one New York county a survey showed the farmers who had a high school education made $204 a year more than those who had been only to district schools. Schooling does seem to pay.

"A study of the work to be done helps in doing it better and with less loss of time," is the way one farmer summed up the value of the correspondence course he had just finished from the state college of agriculture at Ithaca.

Great thoughts hallow any labor. Today I earned 75 cents heaving manure out of a pen, and made a good bargain of it. If the ditcher mused the while how he may live up-rightly, the ditching spade and turf knife may be engraved on the coat-of-arms of his posterity.

Followed Instructions.

Bertie was a silly boy. In fact, he was the silliest boy in the school. One morning the teacher made him read a passage aloud. He began: "The storm was upon us. Our frail b-h-b—"

"Bark," prompted the teacher. But Bertie merely gasped. "Bark," repeated the teacher, this time rather sharply.

Bertie gave another gasp, but meeting the stern eye of his teacher, he said meekly: "Bowwow, bowwow."

The Staff of Life.

If all the bread the average person eats in a year were baked in one loaf it would take three strong men to lift it and a horse to pull it. The weight of the loaf would be 807 pounds.

SEAL SALE TO OPEN DECEMBER 1

$5,000 Result Will Not be Surprising—Judge Fowler Chairman—Post Offices Cooperating.

THE 1923 CHRISTMAS SEAL

On December 1, the 1923 Christmas seal sale opens in Ulster county. The 1923 sale realized $3,223.13 for the work of the Ulster county committee on tuberculosis and public health and the local committee's quota toward the support of the state and national organizations. This year it is believed the total amount realized in the county will be not less than $5,000.

The Hon. Joseph Fowler is the chairman of the Christmas seal campaign for Ulster county and is assisted in the preparations by Dr. Mary Gage-Jay, executive secretary of the Ulster county committee.

The United States postal service is of very great assistance in this annual event which brings the cheerful little Christmas emblem into our homes each holiday season. Through the mails seals are sent in amounts of $1 or $2 worth to everyone who has purchased them in the past in these quantities, or who it is believed will be interested to buy this year. In lobbies of the local post offices all over the county Christmas seals booths in charge of a member of the local committees will offer seals for sale so that no package or letter need be mailed during the holiday season without bearing one or more of the little seals with the smiling face of Santa Claus and bringing the message "All for health and health for all."

In a recent letter received at the offices of the National Tuberculosis Association, Harry S. New, postmaster general, says:

"During the Christmas holiday period the National Tuberculosis Association is engaged in the very meritorious work of selling tuberculosis seals.

"The department is desirous of co-operation in this work to the very fullest extent, consistent with the performance of its own service, and to this end it gives its consent to the reasonable use of post office lobbies, subject to proper regulations on the part of postmasters and custodians."

Those in charge of the local post office booth during December will be: Catholic Daughters of America for the central and lower post offices and Miss Nellie Brown for the uptown post office.

Flaring Lines in Knee-Length Coat

Fashionable Garment Takes Place of Long Type and Short Jacket

Significant changes have taken place in the lines of coats and dresses and, while a cursory examination of the new styles might lead one to believe that last season's frock could be camouflaged by slight changes into a new model, this is simply a deceptive vision, asserts a fashion authority in the New York Tribune. There is a subtle widening of the line from the knees, and it is like the proverbial inch in a man's stature when one attempts to reconcile it to last year's clothes.

The waistline, too, has moved to a new salient, and, since waistlines are one of fashion's significant marks, this makes a striking difference. The line of spring was somewhere in the vicinity of the hips, while this season the waistline occupies a much lower position and really becomes a hobble around the legs or is absent altogether.

Another type of suit that is popular among the new fashions is the three-quarter length coat and dress. The three-quarter length coat returns to favor after so long a time that the flappers will not remember them at all in any measure of popularity. The knee-length coat lends itself admirably to the new flaring lines and is a refreshing change from the long coat and the eternal short jacket of other seasons. Coats of this type are usually cut flaring and are trimmed with fur—as is almost every garment in Paris.

These suits are often embroidered in the fashionable Chinese and Persian motifs. The dress in the combination

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to serious complications.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

THANKSGIVING PARTY AT AT Y. W. C. A. "BEST EVER"

There have been a good many delightful parties at the Y. W. C. A. this fall, but the real party, the Thanksgiving Party, to which the girls could invite their young men friends Tuesday evening, seemed the "best ever," as many of the young people said. The big headquarters room kept shrinking and shrinking as the girls and youths kept coming until there were fully three hundred young people in attendance. Mrs. Seth Staples, chairman of the Hospitality Committee and Mrs. Rice, the president of the Y. W. C. A.; Miss Horton and the members of Mrs. Staples' committee received the young people and made them welcome. One thing was noticeable, there were no "wall flowers" among the young folks, everybody taking some part in the dancing after the first grand march. "The Black Cat Orchestra," was at its best, and from the Thanksgiving decorated platform discoursed music that was repeatedly encored. The homelike atmosphere of the place, the wholesome and attractive looking young people, all went to make the evening a particularly delightful one. During the evening delicious fruit punch, prepared by Miss Margaret Riseley who certainly is an artist at that task, was served, and thoroughly enjoyed between the dances.

Quaint Party Frocks Chic for Little Girls

Quaint charm is the keynote of party frocks designed for the very small person and in the varied modes one finds that every age and every type of childhood has been studied and frocks created that, while adorably simple, nevertheless emphasize the individuality of each tiny wearer.

There are straight, slim frocks for the child just outgrowing the "chubbiness" of babyhood and frilly little gowns to adorn the plump little person of three years and between these two a wide range adapted to all ages and all types.

Never have youthful clothes been more delightful, from the most practical of jersey play frocks with collars and cuffs of plaid or Roman striped ribbon, to those brief little affairs of taffeta or crepe de chine which appear on the momentous occasion of a birthday party.

Pastel colored taffeta and crepe are used for these little frocks, with many frills of the material itself or lace as trimming.

Colors and Size. Large patterns diminish the apparent size of a room. This applies to patterns in wall paper, carpets, rugs and hangings. Dark paper likewise seems to bring the walls closer together. So do the warm, advancing colors, such as shades of red, yellow and orange. Light-colored paper in neutral tones of green, blue, violet and gray tends to make the walls recede and so to add to the apparent size of a room.

TAKE EDUCATION OUT OF POLITICS

That is Call of Eldred, New President of State Teachers' Association—Delegates Endorse New Rural School Bill.

By Telegram to The Freeman, Albany, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Arlo Eldred, superintendent of Troy schools and newly elected president of the New York State Teachers' Association, today called upon the 7,000 teachers in annual convention here, to "fight to the last ditch to take the schools out of politics."

In announcing his program for the coming year, Mr. Eldred said: "I demand that education be taken out of politics and to that end I would have the teachers' organization support city school bills which will put the control of public schools completely in the hands of education authorities."

I demand immediate legislation to remedy the rural school situation.

"Finally I want to bring the organization to every teacher in the state, even those in the most remote localities by a zoning system which will divide the association into six parts."

Eldred was elected president over Miss Frances Hiscock, director of evening schools of Niagara Falls. He received 270 votes in the house of delegates as against 70 votes for Miss Hiscock.

Other newly elected officers of the association are: Miss Alice Boyd, Glens Falls, vice president; Ernest C. Hartwell, superintendent of Buffalo schools, and George H. Covey, district superintendent of West Chester, members of the executive committee.

The house of delegates voted to support the proposed new rural school bill providing the measure, when drawn, is submitted to the house for final approval.

Speaking on the rural schools problem, Dr. Frank P. Graves, state education commissioner, condemned "those persons who have deliberately given the rural population a wrong understanding of the situation."

"There are two types who still oppose the rural school bill," said Dr. Graves, "those persons who do not know any better and those who are getting a benefit by keeping the present system in force."

It is not correct to say that all the great men in the country have come from the little red school house. Rather have they been great in spite of that little red school house.

"It is un-American not to afford equal opportunity. We must give the country boys and girls fair chances." A resolution endorsing equal pay and equal opportunity for men and women teachers recommended to the resolutions committee, has not yet been favorably reported.

Culture of Clover for Profitable Crop of Seed

If you have a heavy growth of clover and wish to get a crop of seed, cut the clover as soon as the heads turn brown; cure in the windrow and, as soon as the hay rattles in the handling, haul under cover; spread one peck of coarse salt over each two-horse load as put in the haymow. If salt cannot be had put a layer of straw or old hay between each load. The hay will take up the moisture in the clover and prevent heating in the mow. The side delivery hay rake is superior to the ordinary hay rake, as it leaves the hay loose so the hot air can cure as well as the sunshine. This rake will take the place of the tedder, as the fine leaves and stems are not broken in the handling and lost.

Spread of Wheat Rust by Barberry

Scientists Have Shown That Epidemics Disappear With Killing of Bushes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

"Farmers proved that the common barberry spreads black stem rust to nearby wheat fields. Scientists showed why and how. Both have shown that rust epidemics disappeared when the bushes were destroyed," said Dr. E. C. Stakman of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is related that as early as 1720 a farmer in England became so angry at seeing a large barberry bush on a neighbor's farm, but near his own wheat, that he poured boiling water around the roots of the plant at night until he had killed it.

Bushes Source of Trouble.

A number of writers observed during the time from about 1750 to 1835 that wherever barberry bushes were found near wheat fields there also was found infected grain. Although it was not known just how rust could come from the barberry, it was natural that many farmers who had noted the damage to their own fields should be convinced that the bushes were the source of the trouble and should be removed. Differences of opinion between farmers and owners of barberry bushes became so sharp as to cause a so-called barberry war, which raged from about 1805 until 1855. Farmers whose grain had been destroyed by black stem rust often destroyed the guilty barberry bushes without even asking the owner's permission.

De Bary Solved Problem.

"Scientists," says Doctor Stakman, "finally tried to find out whether the farmers were right. They were." The matter finally was cleared up in 1865 by De Bary, a German scientist, who made careful experiments and found that the life history of the black stem rust parasite is as follows: The black stage of the rust lives through the winter. It cannot infect grains or grasses. The spores (seeds), however, do infect the common barberry, on which they produce the cluster-cup stage of the rust. The cluster-cup spores are then blown by the wind and infect grain and grasses, on which they produce the red or summer stage of the rust. This stage continues to propagate and spread until late summer or fall, when the black stage again is produced.

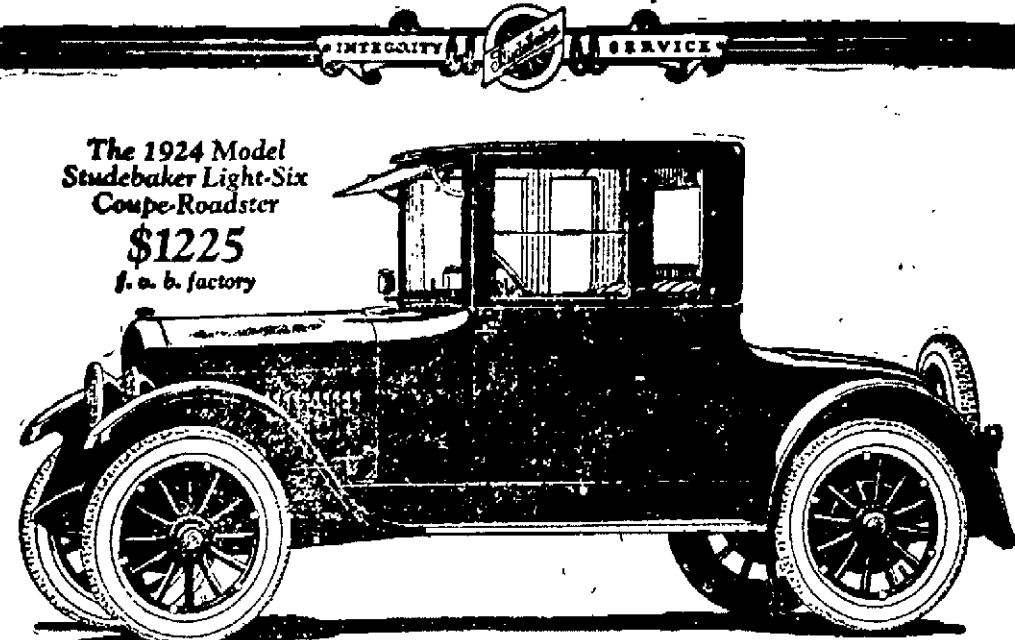

Hundreds of scientists have shown that De Bary was right. No one any longer questions the fact. The barberry stands convicted.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, Nov. 28.—Jack Kearns, ensconced at one of the local hotels, declared today that he had received an offer from a syndicate to stage another bout between his champion, Jack Dempsey, and Louis Firpo, the Argentine challenger, next summer. Kearns declined to divulge the identity of those behind the offer.

He added that Dempsey would arrive here within ten days but said that the champion would not appear in the ring this winter. In addition to Firpo, the champion stood ready to take on Tom Gibbons and Harry Wills when suitable offers were made. Kearns declared.

COACH DOBIE WARNS AGAINST OVER-CONFIDENCE.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 28.—The confident shouts of the student body and pessimistic prediction of Coach Gil Dobie ringing in their ears, Cornell's unbeaten football team was on its way today to engage the University of Pennsylvania in annual Thanksgiving Day combat.

The team was given a send-off at a rally in Bailey Hall of 4,000 students. Dobie broke precedent and permitted the players to attend the mass meeting. He made a short speech in which he emphasized the strength and fighting ability of Pennsylvania and predicted defeat if the Red and White should become too confident as the result of 23 straight victories.
